o'clock Monday morning,

IT APPEARS to be troubling the Critic and its attorneys-in-fact, as to who is editing the HERALD. We print at the head of our columns the name of its editor and manager, and if any further information is wanted on this particular point, we will gladly give it, and will say that we are always to be found in our office, where we will receive and entertain the Baby Elephant and its legal trainers, gratuitously for one week, that a better acquaintance may result.

"GIVE them plenty of rope, and they will hang themselves," is an old and true saying. The good citizens of Apache county can certainly not be charged with refusing to give them plenty of rope. They have had coils of it. Enough hemp has been used in stealing horses out of this county, to hang all the thieves in the United States, A few more such grand juries as the last; an honest, fearless trial jury; a Judge as upright as our new Chief ney who knows all about the baboas the boys, gives the best of hope end."-Critic, March 10. that we shall soon see a practical above.

THE Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company says its charter entirely exempts it from taxation; still it is very anxious and is making itself very conspicuous before our county authorities, endeavoring to get them to accept a compromise. Why a railroad, or any other corporation, that is exempt from taxation by an act of Congress, wants to compromise the basis of its taxation with county authorities, we are at a loss to know. This Company, however, says it will pay on a basis of $2,000 per mile, just to put the county and that Company upon amicable relationsdoes not intend to pay it as a taxbut to donate it as a present to foster the friendly relations of the county. There is something queer about this, at any rate the Atlantic and Pacific Company manifests itself in this instance as a philanthropic corporation unparalleled in modern history.

Exceedingly complimentary to application of the saying quoted the late grand jury. On the 17th of March-just one week after publishing the above—the Critic comes out in an editorial headed "Is it a Hold-up Game?" Then goes on to uphold the Court Commissioner, after its non-committal, back-handed fashion, and to find fault with our authorities for not accepting the bonds offered in the case of Sol Barth, That journal, surely, has not forgotten the history of the case of Charles Kinnear already. If not, will it answer a few questions for the information of the public. Will it tell the people whom Charles Kinnear was brought before when he gave his bonds? Will it inform the public who his bondsmen were, and whether the bond has been paid? Will it give an account of the manner in which these bondsmen acted, when Judge Shields called on them to produce the body of Charles Kinnear, or pay the bond? in truth, so far as you are conrerned, had there been any necessity to defeat your nomination to any official position, I should have called attention of Governor Zulick to the fact that you had been appointed to the office of Attorney General of Arizona by Gov. Safford and removed by him upon charges sustained in an examination held before him. The principal charge being that you conspired with an other party to black-mail the Lou zinsky Bros. out of $5,000 in connection with a mining claim in, what is now, Graham county. To refresh your memory in this matter, I would advise you to read and print the affidavits connected therewith, published in the Tueson Citi zen some twelve years ago.

After this you became a Democrat, but for revenue only. In the Star, you have always kept your eve so constantly upon the "splin-" that and it not been for your appropriate assertion that you edited the leading Democratic paper of the Territory, no one would have discovered a taint of Democracy about the I came into the Territory : July, 1879, and shortly after m d y or acquaintance.

In 1850, after endorsing a platform favoring the Territorial tax on bullion, you accepted a fee from the mining corporations to advocate the repeal of the law. In 1882 you proposed to place the name of the Republican nominee for Congress at the head of the columns of the Star for the insignificant sum of $500. You offered to do the same thing in 1884, if paid a consideration. During the canvass last fall you pulled down the County Democratic ticket, and refused to hoist it until paid $750. After printing the tickets, for which you were well paid, you refused to surrender them until a further contribution of $250 was paid you. You became interested in a land grant scheme and then attempted to secure the appointment, first, of Surveyor General, and then of Land Register of . .. misrepresented the naand administration. You demanded money to reprint an article in defense of Governor Zulick's action in removing Directors Hatch, Lincoln and Stewart from the Asylum Board, and failing to get it you have attacked, on every convenient occasion, him and his admin-
